Why can't our leaders tell the truth? Bakersfield city staff assured us that no addresses had been leaked. But clearly that's not the case. I can see my address on the way back machines archive of the city's website.

The city posted our addresses online without our knowledge and consent, and then lied to us and denied any wrongdoing. Well, the web archive doesn't lie. Now we have to worry about identity theft? Don't Bakersfield residents have enough to worry about?

What is our city manager and council doing to fix this?
